Annex to the letter dated 3 December 2001 from the Chargé d'affaires a.i. of the Permanent Mission of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General

Statement by the Spokesman for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea on Japan's unprecedented suppression of Chongryon

Pyongyang, November 30, 2001

The Japanese authorities ransacked the central and local headquarters of the General Association of Korean Residents in Japan (Chongryon) on 29 November 2001 with the mobilization of hundreds of policemen, an act of repression unprecedented in history.

As is already known, the Japanese authorities kicked up an unprecedented racket in their search for credit associations of the Korean bank, a financial body of Korean traders and industrialists in Japan, under the pretext of the offence of "evasion of inspection".

This time they ransacked even the Chongryon central headquarters, groundlessly linking its central standing committee with the issue related to the business activities of the Korean bank. This goes to prove that such search was an intentional political plot to attack Chongryon itself.

As far as the issue of the Korean bank is concerned, the matter is related to the overall state of depression of the Japanese economy, not to any illegal transactions or "evasion of inspection". A large number of businesses of Japan and the South Korean residents association in Japan are now undergoing a financial crisis.

Chongryon repeatedly clarified to the Japanese Government that there has been nothing in violation of the Japanese laws in its transactions with credit associations of the Korean bank and all its activities have been legitimate ones in line with them.

This notwithstanding, the Japanese reactionaries seriously overstated only the issue of the Korean bank in particular, and forcibly searched even the central headquarters of Chongryon, a dignified overseas citizens organization of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea (DPRK), deliberately pulling it apart without any legal ground.

This is a high-handed criminal act and a despicable political crackdown upon Chongryon and compatriots in Japan and, furthermore, a flagrant infringement upon the sovereignty of the DPRK.

Japan, which has failed to settle its past of great crimes, has doubled its crimes by recklessly provoking and suppressing Chongryon, an organization advocating the rights and interests of Korean compatriots in Japan who are the very victims of forced drafting by Japan.

It is universally known that the Japanese authorities have applied the "law on the prevention of subversive activities" to Chongryon and escalated the suppression of it under various pretexts whenever the situation in the surrounding areas became tense.

However, we cannot but follow this incident with particular vigilance as this was the first undisguised political suppression of Chongryon since its formation and this took place at a time when Japan is putting its wild design for overseas expansion into practice really in earnest, taking advantage of the war against terrorism.

Any suppression of Chongryon whatsoever constitutes an infringement upon the dignity and sovereignty of the DPRK.

We will never tolerate such a tyrannical act, which seriously mocks and antagonizes the DPRK and aggravates the regional situation, nor will we remain a passive onlooker in the face of the escalating acts carried out against the DPRK.

The Japanese authorities should stop at once the fascist suppression of Chongryon, apologize for this and unconditionally and immediately release the people who have been arrested unreasonably.

If they persist in their hostile acts despite our repeated warnings, they will have to bear full responsibility for all the ensuing consequences.

Programme budget for the biennium 2000-2001

Second performance report on the programme budget for the biennium 2000-2001

Report of the Secretary-General

Summary

The present report provides an estimate of the anticipated final level of expenditures, changes in parameters for inflation and exchange rates and cost-of-living adjustments compared with the assumptions made in the first performance report (A/55/645 and Corr.1) which was reviewed by the General Assembly at its fifty-fifth session and which formed the basis for the revised appropriation and estimate of income for 2000-2001.

The revised requirements under the expenditure sections amount to $2,560.9 million, an increase of $27.8 million. The revised estimate under income sections amounts to $379.7 million, a decrease of $1.1 million.

I. Introduction

1. The purpose of the second performance report on the programme budget for the biennium 2000-2001 is to provide an estimate of the anticipated final level of expenditures and income for the biennium. The estimate is based on actual expenditures for the first 20 months of the biennium, projected requirements for the last 4 months, changes in inflation and exchange rates and cost-of-living adjustments as compared with the assumptions made in the first performance report (A/55/645 and Corr.1), which was reviewed by the General Assembly at its fifty-fifth session and which formed the basis for the revised appropriation and estimate of income for the biennium 2000-2001. The estimates proposed in the present report represent an increase of $28.9 million compared with the revised appropriations and estimates of income approved by the Assembly in its resolutions 55/239 A to C of 23 December 2000, as shown in table 1 below.

A. Rates of exchange and inflation

(increase of $19.5 million)

5. The total increase is attributable to the generally unfavourable rate of exchange of the United States dollar in relation to a number of major currencies, namely the Swiss franc, the Austrian schilling and the Netherlands guilder (increase of $10.4 million), and to inflationary increases ($9.1 million). In a number of duty stations, namely, Bangkok, Santiago, Addis Ababa and Nairobi, the rates of exchange moved favourably and partially offset the additional requirements elsewhere. The distribution of the $19.5 million of exchange rate and inflation changes by duty station is shown in table 4.

[b] Rounded.

6. In estimating the effect of exchange rate changes experienced in 2001, the realized exchange rates from January to November 2001, with the November rate applied to December, have been used in the present performance report. Details of the actual and the assumed rates of exchange for all duty stations may be found in schedules 4 and 5.

7. The increase of $10.4 million in respect of exchange rate fluctuations reflects the net impact of additional requirements ($15.3 million) arising in New York, Geneva, Vienna, The Hague, Mexico City and Port of Spain, offset by reduced requirements ($4.9 million) at the other duty stations. It may be recalled that in the first performance report on the programme budget for the biennium 2000-2001 (A/55/645 and Corr.1), it was reported that for most of 2000, favourable average operational rates of exchange were experienced, and the rates realized for December 2000 were used in calculating the revised appropriation for 2001. However, that trend has reversed for some major currencies. Notably, whereas a rate of Sw F 1.76 to the dollar was assumed in the revised appropriations, the average rate calculated for 2001, based on actual experience through November 2001 with the November rate applied to December, is Sw F 1.68 to the dollar, representing a variance of 4.5 per cent. With regard to the Austrian schilling, the average for 2001 is S 15.34 to the dollar, compared with S 15.91 assumed in the revised appropriations, a variance of 3.6 per cent. While the rate assumed in the revised appropriation for the Netherlands guilder was f. 2.55 to the dollar, the average for 2001 is f. 2.46, representing a variance of 3.5 per cent. Meanwhile, the exchange rate of the Chilean peso to the dollar experienced in 2001 (an average of 624 pesos) remains more favourable than the rate applied in the revised appropriation (570 pesos), reflecting a variance of 9.5

per cent and leading to a reduction of $2.7 million. The additional exchange rate requirements of $2.1 million recorded in New York pertain to the difference between actual rates of exchange realized in banking transactions vis-à-vis the United Nations operational rates of exchange.

8. Figures 1 to 4 depict the performance of the Swiss franc, the Austrian schilling, the Netherlands guilder and the Chilean peso against the United States dollar based on actual monthly rates for January to November 2001 and projected for December 2001.

Performance of the Austrian schilling against the United States dollar

9. With regard to inflation, the adjustments are based on the latest information available on consumer price indices as well as adjustments resulting from differences in actual post adjustment indices for staff in the Professional category and above and actual cost-of-living adjustments of salary scales for staff in the General Service and related categories compared with the assumptions made in the revised appropriations.

10. The estimated additional requirements of $9.1 million for inflation are attributable to the increases in Professional salaries ($4.0 million), General Service salaries ($0.3 million), non-post objects of expenditure ($4.6 million) and staff assessment ($0.2 million). Changes in Professional staff costs result from slightly higher than anticipated post adjustment multipliers at large duty stations (notably New York, Geneva, Vienna and The Hague), as promulgated by the International Civil Service Commission in 2001. In the case of General Service staff costs, the cost-of-living adjustments implemented in 2001 are higher than anticipated for a number of duty stations, and in some cases are effective retroactively to 2000. A summary of the increases and decreases by duty station for inflation-related changes to posts, including staff assessment, are shown in table 5 below. Further details may be found in schedule 6, which contains information on the evolution of post adjustment indices by duty station and a comparison of the assumed and actual indices, and schedule 7, which provides information by duty station on cost-of-living increases for staff in the General Service and related categories.

11. Regarding the revised inflation rates for objects of expenditure other than posts, while the realized rates for 2001 are mainly at or slightly lower than the rates foreseen in the revised appropriations, the levels of realized inflation in New York and Vienna are significantly higher than the budgeted rates. The most significant change relates to high inflationary costs associated with utilities in New York. The net effect is an increase of $4.6 million in the rate of inflation for non-post items. Schedule 4 also contains details of the revised inflation rates by duty station for objects of expenditure other than posts.

15. In addition, there are two commitments in connection with the revised estimates and the programme budget implications respectively of resolutions and decisions adopted by the Economic and Social Council, as follows:

(a) Section 1, Overall policy-making, direction and coordination ($29,600). The Fifth Committee informed the General Assembly that, should it adopt draft resolution A/55/L.80, endorsing the recommendation of the Economic and Social Council contained in its resolution 2000/34 of 28 July 2000 that Senegal be added to the list of the least developed countries, an additional appropriation in the amount of $29,600 would be required under section 1, Overall policy-making, direction and coordination, of the programme budget for the biennium 2000-2001 (A/55/848). The draft resolution was adopted by the General Assembly as resolution 55/253 on 12 April 2001;

(b) Section 22, Human rights ($856,400). By its decision 55/456 of 23 December 2000, the General Assembly authorized the Secretary-General to enter into commitments not exceeding $856,400 for the purpose of implementing the resolutions and decisions adopted by the Economic and Social Council at its substantive session of 2000 for activities approved, and requested the Secretary-General to report thereon to the Assembly at its fifty-sixth session in the context of its consideration of the second performance report.

C. Post incumbency and other changes

(decrease of $6.2 million)

16. Schedule 2 provides details of post incumbency and other changes by object of expenditure. Included under this heading are: (a) the difference between realized vacancy rates compared with those assumed in the revised appropriations; (b) differences between actual average salary and common staff costs compared with the standards included in the revised appropriations; and (c) adjustments to objects of expenditure other than posts based on actual and anticipated requirements to the end of the biennium.

17. Total changes under this heading amount to a net decrease of $6,247,300, resulting from reduced requirements of $20.7 million of non-post objects of expenditure offset by additional requirements of $14.5 million in post-related objects.

18. In paragraphs 18 and 19 of section IV of General Assembly resolution 53/214 of 18 December 1998, the Secretary-General was requested to reflect the impact of average vacancy rates on changes related to salaries and common staff costs for each budget section and to provide an explanation when average vacancy rates were higher than the level approved by the Assembly. With respect to the former, the column entitled "post incumbency and other changes" of schedules 1 to 3 responds to that request. It should be noted that changes reflected under that column for posts reflect the effects of both the differences between budgeted and actual vacancy rates as well as the effects of changes in the actual grade/step levels vis-à-vis budgeted rates.

19. As concerns the budgeted vacancy rate, for the first year of the biennium, in accordance with the first performance report (A/55/645 and Corr.1) and based on experience in 2000, the rate applied for that year was 8.3 per cent for the Professional category and above and 2.6 per cent for General Service staff. For the second year of the biennium, however, the budgeted vacancy rate was maintained at 6.5 per cent for Professionals and 2.5 per cent for General Service staff, as was originally approved for the initial appropriation.

20. On the basis of experience from January to September of the second year of the biennium, the level of vacancies realized in 2001 amount to 6.9 per cent for the Professional category and above and 3.2 per cent for the General Service category. Further information by section on the evolution of average actual vacancy rates under the regular budget as at 31 December 2000 and 30 September 2001 are included in schedule 8.

21. As shown in schedule 8, in almost two thirds of the sections the average vacancy rate for 2001 to date is lower than the budgeted level approved by the General Assembly, reflecting significant improvement over the 2000 average. This trend is one of the factors leading to additional requirements for post costs.

22. However, there are a limited number of exceptionally high-vacancy sections, which may be categorized as follows:

(a) Small sections not considered problematic with a low authorized post base in which a marginal number of vacancies generate a vacancy rate in excess of the budgeted level. For example, 2 vacant posts out of an authorized number of 13 in section 6 would generate a vacancy rate of 15.4 per cent. Similarly under section 10, 3 vacant posts against an authorized staffing table of 14 would lead to a vacancy rate of 21.4 per cent;

(b) Larger sections requiring specific attention. For example in five sections, namely 16, 20, 24, 27 and 30, the average vacancy rates realized from 1 January to 30 September 2001 were recorded at 31, 8.4, 10.7, 9.6 and 93.1 per cent respectively. In terms of absolute numbers, the combined number of vacant posts for those five sections (117) account for approximately half the total number of vacant posts as at 30 September 2001 (235), although those sections represent only 21 per cent of the total number of posts budgeted. The vacancies under section 30, Special expenses, relate to the establishment of 32 new posts for the Office of the United Nations Security Coordinator effective 1 January 2001, as approved by the General Assembly in section II of its resolution 55/238 of 23 December 2000. Only a few posts at Headquarters have been filled recently, and the field posts remain vacant. The variation between the budgeted and realized vacancy rates for those sections is attributable to a number of factors, including but not limited to delays in recruitment, appointment and/or promotion; separations; and placement of internal candidates against posts at a higher level, which consequently results in vacancies at lower levels. Efforts continue to be made across the Organization to address the overall issue under the auspices of human resources management reform.

23. In addition to the general trend of lower vacancies, the additional requirements for posts are attributable to differences in salaries and common staff costs realized in some sections. In the Department of General Assembly Affairs and Conference Services, the average vacancy rate is consistently and significantly lower than the budgeted rate. Furthermore, the actual programme of meetings and the volume of work, which was significantly higher in terms of the number of serviced meetings than was initially estimated, has necessitated the recruitment of short-term staff against vacant posts, including from abroad, in order to supplement the existing permanent capacity of the Department. Such measures have increased the common staff cost requirements, such as travel and per diem. In addition, actual salary and common staff costs have exceeded the established standards owing to a higher average step in grade. This situation also occurs to a limited extent in Geneva, Nairobi and some other sections in New York.

24. Savings relating to posts other than those resulting from higher vacancies are attributable to the practice of encumbering vacant posts with staff at lower grade levels than the budgeted grade pending recruitment and the temporary replacement of staff on mission assignments, also often at a level lower than that of the relevant post.

25. With regard to changes to objects of expenditure other than posts, as indicated in schedule 2, a net reduction of $20.7 million is anticipated, reflecting the effect of decreases under non-staff compensation, consultants and experts, travel, contractual services, general operating expenses, hospitality, supplies and materials, improvement of premises and grants and contributions amounting to $35.8 million, offset by additional requirements amounting to $15.1 million under other staff costs, furniture and equipment and other.

26. The net decrease in consultants and experts ($1.2 million) is related primarily to the greater use of in-house expertise in a number of sections. In some special political missions there have been difficulties in determining priorities in expertise required owing to the situation prevailing in the localities, resulting in underutilization of the provision for consultants. There have also been reduced requirements for ad hoc experts as a result of lower than anticipated participation and fewer expert group meetings.

27. The net reduction under travel ($4.2 million) pertains to the effects of changes in the programme of some international meetings in the Department of Political Affairs, including the co-hosting of such meetings by host countries or organizations; lower requirements for travel of staff in some political missions owing to the security situation in the mission area; reduced requirements for travel of military observers in the United Nations Truce Supervision Organization (UNTSO) and the United Nations Military Observer Group in India and Pakistan (UNMOGIP) in view of less rotation than anticipated; and lower than anticipated requirements for travel of representatives due to the underutilization of their travel entitlements and fewer participating representatives, particularly under section 22, Human rights.

28. The reduced requirements of $6.7 million under contractual services relate to lower requirements in external contractual translation in Geneva; decreased requirements with respect to proprietary software and systems design; greater use of internal reproduction and data-processing services, for example by the Department of Political Affairs, the Department of Economic and Social Affairs, the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and the Economic Commission for Europe; decreased requirements for public information production costs; and less than anticipated requirements for staff training activities.

29. Reduced requirements under general operating expenses ($12.9 million) are attributable in large part to costs related to premises; increased recovery of communication costs through the direct reimbursement by users of telecommunication charges; reduced long-distance telephone charges made available by long-distance providers; lower requirements for utilities, communications and maintenance of furniture and equipment in Geneva due to renegotiated local contracts; lower requirements for maintenance of premises and utilities in Vienna; lower than projected requirements for utilities, maintenance of data-processing equipment, renegotiated local contracts for furniture and equipment at the Economic Commission for Africa (ECA); generally expanded use of the Intranet and Internet; and reduced general operating expenses in UNTSO, UNMOGIP and a number of special political missions.

30. With regard to supplies and materials, the net reduction ($3.4 million) relates largely to tighter controls on the purchase of supply needs such as those related to printing, photocopying, writing paper and library books, as well as lower requirements for data-processing supplies as well as supplies and parts in support of transport, telecommunications and computer technology service activities.

31. The net decrease in requirements related to improvement of premises ($0.9 million) has resulted mainly from the postponement of a number of projects, such as structural maintenance of the garage and library facade in New York, as well as the replacement of conference room carpets and power units for the plant and waterproofing of the generator exhaust chamber in Nairobi.

32. Regarding the net reduction under grants and contributions ($5.8 million), this relates significantly to sections 1, 9 and 27. Under section 1, the reduced requirement pertains exclusively to the United Nations share in the cost of the central secretariat of the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Board owing to lower expenditures anticipated by the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund and an increase in the percentage share of United Nations funds and programmes, which reduces the share charged to the United Nations regular budget. As to section 9, the decrease is attributable to the reduced share of the United Nations payment to the International Computing Centre for the operation and maintenance of the mainframe and client server environment and the non-utilization of the one-time provision to the United Nations International Research and Training Institute for the Advancement of Women for 2001 as a result of sufficient extrabudgetary funds remaining available. Under section 27, the reduction results from the discontinuation in 2001 of the arrangements for reimbursement of services provided by the International Computing Centre. Those services have been provided through internal arrangements. Some savings are also anticipated owing to lower requirements for the United Nations share in some joint administrative activities in Geneva and Vienna. Those decreases are offset by additional requirements for the United Nations share of conference services at Vienna owing to greater demand for services for United Nations meetings held in Vienna and for the United Nations share in the costs of the Office of the United Nations Security Coordinator.

33. The net reduction of $0.6 million under non-staff compensation relates to a reduction in the compensation and entitlement requirements of the judges of the International Court of Justice. Hospitality requirements, reflecting a reduction of $0.1 million, are also lower than anticipated.

34. The net increase under other staff costs ($8.8 million) is attributable largely to additional requirements for temporary assistance for meetings and overtime in the Department of General Assembly Affairs and Conference Services. These significant increases result from the increased number of meetings serviced during the biennium, in particular those of the General Assembly and the Security Council, as well as the activities relating to the Millennium Summit held in 2000; the unpredictability of meetings, resulting in heavy peaks of activity during certain periods of the biennium requiring extensive recourse to recruitment of freelance interpreters on a non-local basis with substantial additional travel and subsistence costs; and the demand for services beyond normal working hours owing to a significant number of meetings that continue beyond the scheduled time of adjournment. The increase reflected under section 5, Peacekeeping operations, relates to additional requirements for overtime to meet additional demands during peak workload periods in support of peacekeeping missions in Kosovo, East Timor and the Democratic Republic of the Congo and for subsistence allowance for military observers in UNTSO. Additional requirements are also experienced under section 26, Public information, in relation to news and media coverage of General Assembly and Security Council meetings, the Millennium Summit and other special conferences; and promotional and informational work relating to peace-building. Under section 27C, Office of Human Resources Management, there are also additional requirements for general temporary assistance in the expanded recruitment exercises for the Department of Peacekeeping Operations and in addressing the high vacancy situation in ECA and the United Nations Office at Nairobi; and in connection with the coordination, development and implementation of the staff development programme. The increases described above are offset by savings under the same object of expenditure in section 3, Political affairs, resulting from high vacancy rates in a number of special political missions and a delay in the deployment of military observers and civilian police to those missions.

35. The net increase of $4.6 million under furniture and equipment relates, among other things, to additional furniture and equipment in connection with the consolidation of office space and its reconfiguration and renovation; additional security and safety-related equipment in New York and Geneva; additional costs associated with the replacement and upgrading of data-processing and communication equipment at Headquarters; and additional office automation equipment in connection with the implementation of the ECA information and communication technology programme, which was started in 1999, particularly new equipment at ECA headquarters and the subregional development centres; the connectivity between ECA headquarters, the centres and the rest of the United Nations system; and multimedia and communication requirements for the conference centre, such as videoconferencing and broadcasting capacity over the Internet and other electronic means.

36. The net increase of $1.7 million in the other category reflects mainly the additional requirements for staff assessment related to post costs.

37. Since the biennium 1998-1999 a uniform net-budgeting approach to the presentation of costs for activities not borne entirely by the United Nations but shared by the Organization and other entities has been applied. Accordingly, in the present report the net requirements or United Nations share of the relevant activities under sections 2, 27F, 29 and 30 are included in the foregoing discussion of the final overall level of the 2000-2001 programme budget and are reflected accordingly in the accompanying schedules 1 to 3 for appropriation purposes.

38. At the same time, the final gross budget levels recommended for the separate net budgeted activities would be as follows: Joint Inspection Unit ($7.1 million); International Civil Service Commission ($10.9 million); the secretariats of the Consultative Committee on Administrative Questions ($1.5 million); the Information Systems Coordination Committee ($1.2 million) and the Consultative Committee on Programme and Operational Questions ($0.8 million); conference services ($36.6 million) and security and safety services ($8.5 million) at the United Nations Office at Vienna; and interorganizational security ($7.7 million).

D. Unliquidated obligations

39. In paragraph 10 of its report on the second performance report on the programme budget for the biennium 1998-1999,[1] the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions reiterated its recommendation that future performance reports indicate the amount of unliquidated obligations included in estimated expenditures for the biennium. In this regard, it should be pointed out that it is not feasible to predefine the exact level of unliquidated obligations anticipated for the close of the biennium. As a point of reference, the amount of unliquidated obligations as at the end of September 2001 stood at $161.7 million. Between now and the closing of the accounts, this figure can and will change, and therefore its presentation should not be considered to be directly comparable to the unliquidated obligations included in the performance reports for peacekeeping operations, which are normally prepared after the closing of the financial period concerned, at which point the level of unliquidated obligations has been fully defined.

III. Income sections

40. The total decrease under income sections amounts to $1.1 million, which is broken down by section in table 6.

Income section 1

41. The increase in staff assessment income of $1.9 million reflects an increase in the level of staff assessment disbursed under the related expenditure section due to higher staff costs, combined with lower staff assessment realized in respect of the expenditure portion of income section 3.

Income section 2

42. The net increase under income section 2 is attributable to a range of offsetting factors. Increases relate to income from rental of premises, reimbursement for services provided to specialized agencies and others, bank interest, sales of used equipment, contributions of non-member States and reimbursement of prior-year expenditures, totalling $3.3 million. They are offset by reductions under television and similar services ($0.3 million) and miscellaneous income and other ($2.0 million).

Income section 3

43. The decrease under income section 3 is due mainly to a larger reduction in gross revenues ($10.1 million) than in related expenses ($6.1 million). The revenue from the sale of philatelic items is lower than anticipated owing to adverse market conditions and a continuing decline and stagnation in the philatelic industry. Revenues from the sale of gift items, sale of publications and services provided to visitors are also lower than the levels previously estimated owing to a downturn in the number of visitors and unscheduled closings of premises due to unforeseen events. These decreases are offset by improved performance in garage operations and statistical services.

IV. Compensation arising from judgements of the United Nations Administrative Tribunal

44. In accordance with General Assembly resolution 52/220 of 22 December 1997, included in the final estimates of the anticipated level of expenditures for the biennium 2000-2001 are expenditures (totalling $300,293) related to compensation paid to staff as a result of judgements of the United Nations Administrative Tribunal. The specific amounts under each section are included in schedule 9.
